

After 10 Years Service

Ten years of service to Hancock County Welfare Department as a foster mother, Mrs. Earl has closed her foster home. In paying tribute to Mrs. Earl, Miss Breazeale, Child Welfare Director, said "We would like to have Mrs. Earl publicly for her cooperation in working with us and these children."

Mrs. Earl decided she wanted to provide a home away from home for children who, for various reasons, could not stay in their homes. She was approved by the Welfare Department in 1946.

A good foster home embodies more than just a house and a willingness to take children into it. There must be love, understanding of children and their needs and problems, discipline, the ability to work and to play, the joy of laughter and the seriousness of tears. Mrs. Earl's decision to retire is a great loss to the foster home program. She has done a magnificent work in preparing "her children" to be good, productive, law-abiding citizens. She saw that they went to school, Sunday School and Church services whenever possible; she helped train them, discipline them and to meet their emotional as well as their physical needs.

The foster home program is one of our best resources for meeting the needs of children; we need more foster homes in this county. We hope everyone will join us in wishing Mrs. Earl happiness in her retirement; however, at the same time, we are sorry to lose one of our best foster mothers as she has played a big role in making our foster home program a success.

Commuters Schedule Meeting For 25th

ATTEND FIRST STORY HOUR OF SEASON

The Story Hour sponsored by American Legion Auxiliary had their first story hour of the summer season on Friday, June 14th. There were twenty children in attendance. Mrs. John Weathers, chairman of Junior Activities, stated that this story hour is open to the community and invite each and every boy and girl between the age of six and twelve to attend for the Story Hour which is every Friday morning from ten to eleven o'clock at the City-County Memorial Library.

A second meeting of L & N Commuters is called for 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, June 25, in the auditorium of Bay High School.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize Commuters into a unit, name committees from its rank to decide the best methods of approaching L & N personnel in efforts to forestall a possible discontinuance of the Gulf Coast Commuter train by the railroad. Two meetings of commuter passengers were called by the railroad last week, one in New Orleans and one in the auditorium of the school here, to discuss the situation from the railroad point of view. Although told by W. G. Whitsett, Assistant to the president of the line, who conducted the meetings, that they were called for the sole purpose of seeking suggestions from daily passengers of the coast train, in efforts to devise means whereby the L & N could operate the commuter without showing a loss of $86,000.00 annually, which the RR claims it lost in the operation of this one train during the 1956 year it soon became apparent to those present that the RR had already decided what course it contemplated taking, and the meetings were nothing less than milkops thrown to a supposedly glibble public.

26 Children Visit Here

Twenty-six happy boys and girls from ten to twelve years of age arrived by special chartered bus at noon Monday for a five day stay in Bay St. Louis as guests of a number of gracious residents of the community.

The children who are from the Methodist Home in Jackson, Miss., were brought down by Mrs. Ethel Crouch, House Mother, who will be a guest at the Reed Hotel, and will be entertained by a number of women members of the United Council of Church Women during their stay in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Norman Renshaw is chairman of this year's event, with Mrs. T. T. Robin and Mrs. Robert Hamilton co-chairmen.

The bus pulled into the yard of the Leo Seal residence about noon Monday, where it discharged its cargo of eager youngsters. They were officially greeted by Mrs. Seal, who entertained them at a delightful luncheon on the spacious rear porch of her home. Following the luncheon they were met by the women with whom they would spend the next few days and taken to their homes. Parties and get-togethers have been planned to entertain the children during their stay here.

Among those entertaining the youngsters are Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald, with Diana Pierce and June Sharp; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. The children will be in Bay St. Louis until Friday afternoon when they will again board the chartered bus for the return trip to Jackson.

Starting Friday morning, June 21, at 11:00 o'clock air raid horns will blow for an all-out alert for this district.

Kenneth Whitfield, Hancock County Civil Defense Director, advises that no alarm should be taken when the alert begins. The public had previously been advised that when the horns blow it would be a genuine raid. However, Whitfield said it was necessary for this all out alert, which would continue for a 24 hour period and that all personnel of Civil Defense, including, Police, Fire Rescue Squads, Watchers, etc., would be standing by during the alert.

He further added that any persons, youths or adults who would like to contribute some time as ground observer crews would be gratefully welcomed, and should contact him by telephoning HO-74242.

Aircraft observation posts will activate all craft plotted, tracked and reported during the 24 hour alert to the Filter Center in Mobile, Ala.

The air raid horns will blow again on Saturday morning, June 22, announcing the ending of the alert period.

Educational Building To Be Added To Baptist Church

Construction will begin shortly on a $50,000.00 Educational building for the Bay St. Louis Baptist Church.

An architects drawing shows the proposed building which will be attached as a wing to the present structure, and will serve as a Sunday School with facilities for 300 persons.

Within the brief period of less than twelve years, the Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis has emerged from a mere handful of people attending service conducted by Missionary Ministers in a small rented frame structure situated almost within Cedar Rest Cemetery on Easterbrook Street, to an imposing brick edifice with a congregation of close to three hundred.

In 1949 shortly after the death of Mrs. A. H. Hart, the Hart home on Main St. was purchased for the Baptist Church. During the next couple of years, with a rapid growth in the congregation, the work of raising funds for the construction of a proposed $40,000 church began. The building was completed in 1955, and construction cost liquidated shortly after.

With the steady and rapid growth of the congregation it soon became apparent that the fine new church building was not sufficient to take care of Sunday School classes and larger quarters would be needed. Again the congregation went to work planning and working to realize the necessary funds for the construction and furnishing of an Educational Building. The new building when complete will bring the property assets to the church to better than $100,000.00, as a paragonage was also purchased when the church acquired a full time minister.

In the largest crowd on record for the viewing of the local Hospitality Contest, Miss Diane Seuzeneau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Seuzeneau, was crowned and named Miss Hospitality, Bay St. Louis, for the night at the Reed Hotel.

Twenty lovely girls entered first prize frocks, and later changing suits. They changed to evening dress for interview with the judges before they gave their decisions and the winner.

Active blond Dianne is a native of Mississippi Southern, Hattiesburg. She was a student of St. Joseph Academy.

Selected from their home for this honor will compete in Hospitality contests winners will be entered in the contest to be held in Hattiesburg. All contestants will be in Jackson during the contest.

Diane Seuzeneau, left, with Jeanette Monti former Miss Hospitality contest to name a State Miss Hospitality. A substantial check was given the local winner by the Chamber of Commerce to help defray clothing costs for future contests.

Each girl who entered the contest Saturday evening was presented a bracelet as a souvenir of the evening.

In addition to Dr. Russo, Chamber of Commerce president, C. C. McDonald, Jr., gave a brief address and called on Mayor Seaford for the welcoming address.

Howard LeTissier served as emcee of the event. Judges included: Dr. Rupert Cooke, Vice President, Gulfport College, General Doyle Hickey, U. S. A., retired, served with General Patton during the war; Miss Audrey Stark, head of Star Studios, New Orleans, La., and Mrs. Timony Swoope, President of De La Salle Mothers' Club, New Orleans, La.

Many differences of opinion arose, however the consensus was that a meeting should be called with all commuters present at which time committees would be named from among the group to represent passengers of the train.

Two committees are contemplated as the best chart to route, one to investigate legal rights of the people, the other to meet and discuss the situation with Railroad officials.

Throughout the years of Franchise of the L & N battles have been waged at intervals between passengers of the Gulf Coast trains and the Railroad, with the RR contending at all times the loss of money to its stockholders in the operations of coast commuter service. Residents of the Gulf Coast engaged in business in New Orleans maintain the fault lies with the RR inasmuch as they do nothing to encourage the coast as a residential suburb of New Orleans and that with better schedules, advertising and nominal rates, a great number of urban dwellers would move to the pleasant environments of the Coast and become a part of the commuter contingent, thereby substantially increasing the numbers of passengers for year round commuting. With only 1 morning train into the city and one returning afternoon train to the coast these people have no alternative and must remain in the overcrowded city, since time schedule of the train conflicts with working schedules.

Following the 1947 hurricane, which demolished and severely damaged bridges of the railroad along the coast, the L & N attempted to discontinue all Coast service reroute its freight out of New Orleans, and terminate passenger service at Mobile. This proposed change was prohibited by the Railroad Commissions of Louisiana and Alabama (the Mississippi RR Commission works on different lines than those of these two states) and the RR was compelled to repair damages and continue service along the Gulf Coast.

During 1954 the L & N discontinued several Coast trains, in spite of a battle waged between the line and residents of communities of the Coast. This removal of service proved a great disadvantage to many coast suburban dwellers forcing a number of families to return to overpopulated city living.

Suppose you had servants instead of electricity...

If you did, it would cost you about $50,000 more each year!

That's because in the average American home electricity does jobs equal to the manual labor of more than 80 servants working a 40-hour week. Multiply that by 75 cents or $1.00 an hour, and the figures skyrocket.

Next time you look at your electric bill, think of it as your payroll for 30 servants. Mighty low wages—don't you agree?

CONGRESSMAN W. M. COLEMAN

THE BUDGET

The budget continues to be a number one conversation item in Washington, and among the top subjects is the mail. To date, the House has considered and acted on 15 separate measures concerning the appropriation of funds for this government and its department and agencies. It has not acted on the Public Works bill, which is sometimes referred to as the "pork barrel" bill, nor the Mutual Security (Foreign Aid) bill. The Senate has acted on 12 of these measures. Five have been signed into law by the President, while one is awaiting the President's signature.

In all, the House has cut $4 billion from the President's budget. These cuts were very carefully weighed. As a matter of fact, we along with a number of other economy-minded Members of the House, especially from the South, have spent innumerable hours going over each appropriation bill item by item as it was reported from the committee in an effort to cut the "fat."

Of course, Congress is handicapped as we have pointed out in the past by not providing itself with experts with the detailed knowledge of the workings of the department that the Bureau of the Budget with its some 400 experts has. It is, therefore, hard for Congress to spot the places where there is waste and where there is essential spending. In an effort to correct that situation and return to Congress control over the purse strings, Senator McClellan and I have sponsored legislation in the past several Congresses to set up a Joint Committee on the Budget. However, the House Appropriations Committee Chairman and Senior Minority Member have opposed this legislation on the ground that it is an invasion of their prerogatives. Several years ago we came within 16 votes of securing passage of the bill, even over their opposition.

and boating. Along this coast is the world's longest man-made beach—26 miles of white sand and extending 300 feet towards the Gulf of Mexico.

Hattiesburg is described as the home of Mississippi Southern College while McComb was said to be a railroad and manufacturing town; Laurel a fast growing city with scores of lovely homes.

Scores of lovely ante-bellum homes and gardens, many of them open to the public, can be seen in cities like Natchez, Laurel, Columbus, Holly Springs, Brookhaven and other historic places in Mississippi.

We're Losing Sunday

By Bob Brown, Author of "DON'T SHOP ON SUNDAY"

ASK YOU helping ruin Sunday?

All over the country, more and more people are giving up the habit of Sunday shopping. For many of us it begins with an occasional stop on the way home from church. Before long we are regular Sunday buyers. In this way we turn the Day of the Lord into the day of the dollar.

IN DENVER, a billboard pictures a lonesome little girl asking: "Please let my daddy stay home with me on Sunday. Let him go to church with me. Don't buy meats and groceries in Sunday stores, 'cause then my daddy will have to work on Sunday too."

It doesn't seem wrong, I'll admit, to buy a few groceries on Sunday instead of 24 hours earlier. 10 or 15 minutes in a store may not hurt your Sunday observance. But your buying does help disrupt the Sunday of others.

IF WE IGNORE the whole problem, the whirlwind toward a seven-day business week will grow. Soon we may be tempted to get more of our goods and services—even a haircut or a permanent wave—on Sunday. Who knows where this trend will stop?

What we fail to see is that

We are still hoping, however, that if the current pressure from the people for a drastic cut in Federal expenditures continues, we may be successful in getting action on this much-needed legislation next year.

FOREIGN AID

While we have supported the positive moves, both of this Administration and of the previous Administration, to counter Russian aggression—such as the Foran resolution, the Marshall Plan, the Aid to Greece, and the Eisenhower doctrine the Mid-East—we have for many years now felt that the Mutual Security or Foreign Aid Program should be abandoned and this tremendous drain on our resources should be stopped. We have pointed out that the maxim of Lenin was that the way to conquer the United States was to make it spend itself into bankruptcy, and we have been concerned less these tremendous expenditures for Foreign Aid do exactly that.

H. I. Phillips, one of the newspaper columnists, wrote a poem entitled AMERICA SPEAKS which expresses in a light vein the feelings of a lot of Americans on the question of Foreign Aid. It is, as follows:

To meet both ends I seldom can
(But I'm a help to Pakistan);
It's hard to keep my shirt and pants
(But after all, I'm fond of France);
I guess I'll have to break my lease
(I must cooperate with Greece);
Hedged in by debts quite vast I am
(But I must not forget Siam).

The wolf from door I can't repel
(Still I must help keep Burma well);
By Tuesday I am out of dough
(Malaya's feeling better, though);
My dollar very little buys
(But Egypt's safer, I surmise);
My own financial outlook's murky
(But still my heart belongs to Turkey).

I'm busted flat, and feeling blue
(But I'm a pal of Timbuktu);
We're adding breadcrumbs to our hash
(Who cares? Ain't Tito short of cash?);
The sheriff's knocking on my door
(However, England's asking more);
I'm in a hole, but feeling noble
(I wish things are not quite so global).

Dentist's Daughter—well dear, have you asked father for my hand yet?
Shy Suitor—No. Every time I step into his office, I lose courage. Today I allowed him to pull another tooth.

each of our actions helps build a "social climate." Every family must act as though it were buying on Sunday. These occasional purchases are not themselves the problem. But they set an example and added to the shopping time of thousands, set a community climate in which it becomes easy to violate the Sabbath. We must set a limit and buy what is only absolutely necessary.

SUNDAY BUSINESS is a sign that we are forgetting the preciousness of Sunday, the day we give to the Lord, the day He has coming Who made all the other days. What's more, it shows that we are ignoring the third commandment which binds the consciences of all men to "Keep holy the Sabbath."

"HOW MUCH CAN I get away with?" is hardly the Christian attitude toward this commandment. Rather we should ask, "What little extra can I do to make my Sunday more holy?"

Eliminating unnecessary buying and selling is only part of what must be done to make Sunday the Lord's day. We must also devote time to worship and prayer. Families should put aside their usual daily routine. Instead of going their separate ways, they should recreate together on Sundays.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE, then, does not mean spending the day in a dull way. The true Sunday spirit is found in the words of the psalm: "This is the day the Lord hath made. Let us be glad and rejoice therein."

Miss Hospitality To Attend Minneapolis Annual Aquanatal

The winner of the forthcoming Miss Hospitality Contest, July 2-3, is already scheduled to make a trip to the Lake of the Isles Aquanatal held annually in the outstanding Minneapolis city for 10 days starting July 20.

Only a dozen of the outstanding special event queens of the United States, Canada and Central America are invited to be "Visiting Queens" at this event each year, and Mississippi's Miss Hospitality has been one of the honored few for the past few years.

Called "the greatest summer festival in the nation," the Aquanatal has been a gala celebration since 1940 and features leading celebrities of television, film and stage and radio. Such stars as Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor, Victor Borge, Edgar Bergen and Arthur Godfrey have been some of the show-time greats who have helped make this one of the top-flight affairs of the nation. On the distaff side there have been such lovelies as Arlene Dahl, Coleen Gray, The Chatterboxes, Marion Marlowe, the McGuire Sisters, Li Ann Simms and Helen O'Connell.

Two giant parades by an estimated 750,000 spectators are the focal points of the ten-day pageant and the sports program reads like an encyclopedia of summer sports. Sailing regattas, swimming and diving contests, canoe derbies, bicycle races, fly and bait casting, power boat races,

About thirty-five guests were invited. The bride-elect was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

Dept. Of The Army Announces Program For Students of Psychology

The Department of the Army has announced a program whereby Psychology students can be commissioned in the Army Reserves and obtain their doctorates while serving on active duty, according to Third U. S. Army Headquarters.

The applicants must be within two years of their doctorate. They must be under 30 years of age prior to date of entry on active duty as a Reserve Officer, and must have completed two full academic years of graduate training.

Students who take advantage of the program will be allowed to finish their doctorates while in the Army. This will usually consist of some internship at an Army installation and some residence work. But individual programs will be tailored to the needs of the student and the requirements of the university.

Applicants who are accepted will enter the Army as second lieutenants. Promotion to first lieutenant usually will occur upon completion of school.

Students who are accepted must remain on active duty for three years after termination of student status. They will be assigned as psychologists or psychological assistants in the Army. No student will be required to apply for a Regular Army commission although interested students will certainly be encouraged to apply for career Army status. All students will be responsible for all academic expenses.

Applicants should be submitted not earlier than six months prior to the expected completion of the first two full years of graduate work, and may be submitted at any time after this. Normal processing generally requires two to three months. It is desirable for each student assignment to begin in August or September, just before the beginning of the school year although this may be modified.

Further information on the program may be obtained by contacting the Military Personnel Procurement Division, Headquarters Third U. S. Army, Fort McPherson, Georgia.

COFFEE PARTY

A delightful social event of last week was the coffee party at which four of Waveland's prominent matrons entertained at the Bay Waveland Yacht Club.

Mrs. Edwin Scott, Mrs. C. M. Freerking, Mrs. E. H. Glass, and Mrs. Raymond Gardner received a large gathering of friends in the beautifully appointed dining hall of the club, which was gay with the decorations of spring flowers. A lovely floral centerpiece centered the handsomely appointed coffee table, and close friends of the hostesses alternated pouring.

Threats seldom accomplish amiable settlements, but sometimes they help.

New Film To Be Distributed By Miss E. C. Council

Two new films have been secured by the Mississippi Economic Council for distribution to civic clubs, women's organizations, schools and other interested groups. President J. D. Wise of Hattiesburg announces:

One film entitled "The Story Of Creative Capital" is being distributed by the economic education committee, headed by Earl Flowers of Ruleville. Briefly, the film tells the story of what capitalism is, where capital comes from and what it does.

The film is 16mm in size, and runs for 14 minutes. It is an animated cartoon style film, in full color. It was produced by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in cooperation of E. E. du Pont de Nemours & Company.

The other film available is entitled "What Is a Chamber of Commerce?" It is being distributed as an educational film on business organizations by the Council's commercial organization services committee headed by W. E. Walker, Jr. of Columbia.

The film, 16mm in size and in color, was produced by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It runs for 21 minutes.

The latter film is of particular interest to local chambers wanting to explain how such organizations function.

Both films are available without cost by contacting the Council's headquarters P. O. Box 1839, phone 5-4721 in Jackson.

RISE IN SPENDING

Governmental economic experts have predicted that the Government would spend more in the next fiscal year than the $71,800,000,000 estimated in January by President Eisenhower, despite Congressional cuts in appropriations. The report estimated Federal spending in fiscal 1958, beginning July 1, at one to one and a half billion dollars more than the President's estimate.
